

Stories Without Books – Building Confident Storytelling Skills

Story telling is one of the oldest forms of communication and one which every child loves to be a part of. This course is not designed to make you an overnight story telling professional but rather to help you build your confidence in telling stories without the “safety net” of a story book.

What can I expect from the Course?

Another hands-on practical workshop designed to give you loads of ideas to stimulate your storytelling with young children. Looking at the use of props and sound effects the session shares ideas and best practice in a relaxed, supportive environment. For those more wary or less confident attendees please rest assured that no-one is ever made to stand up and tell stories if they feel in the slightest bit uncomfortable.

Free Resources

All attendees receive an amazing package of resources and props including puppets, instruments and books.

“ A beginning in gaining the confidence to be able to retell stories without the comfort of a book.” Audrey – EY Practitioner

“ The whole session enables you to revisit childhood imagination.” Sue - Childminder
